RESHMA SAUJANI

DEMOCRAT FOR CONGRESS

“I WON’T TAKE A PENNY FROM CORPORATE SPECIAL INTEREST PACS. MY COMMITMENT IS TO REPRESENT YOUR INTERESTS, NOT THE SPECIAL INTERESTS.”

Washington special interests hurt New Yorkers’ best interest. Their 34,750 lobbyists and $174 million in campaign PAC donations have turned some Members of Congress against us. To fight back, Reshma Saujani is offering new leadership and new accountability for Congress.¹

SPECIAL INTEREST INFLUENCE HARMS NEW YORK CITY

Corporate special interests haven’t just corrupted Washington. Their lobbyists helped cause the recession by weakening regulations on sub-prime mortgages. Big Oil lobbyists even enjoyed a “cozy relationship” with government safety regulators who should have prevented the BP oil spill. New Yorkers deserve better.²

ONLY RESHMA IS REJECTING SPECIAL INTEREST CASH

Unlike so many in Congress, Reshma refuses to take money from corporate special interest political action committees. She knows it’s the best way to get special interests out of the way of New Yorkers’ best interest. Reshma is proving her commitment to working for the real people who pick our leaders — voters like you.

RESHMA’S PLAN FOR ACCOUNTABLE GOVERNMENT

Rejecting cash from corporate special interests is just the first step in keeping Washington honest. She proposes that all members of Congress be required to put their personal investments in blind trusts and that we ban corporate PAC contributions. Reshma will also post her entire schedule and voting record online so New Yorkers can see what her priorities are each day.
